Available subcommittee reports

1. Online education subcommittee

Aims of the committee:

The Online Education (OLE) Subcommittee leverages virtual educational platform via Zoom webinars to provide the CAPA members a regular educational program. The program also offers teaching opportunities for pathologists who have strong interests in education, and promote professional communication, friendship and collaboration among all CAPA members to enhance the excellence of pathology practice.

In 2021-2022, the OLE Subcommittee will continue to run the Education Webinars on practical topics of molecular genetic pathology and surgical pathology. The topics will cover molecular genetic pathology, cytopathology, breast, soft tissue, genitourinary, gastrointestinal, hepatic and pancreatic, pulmonary, head and neck pathology. In addition to the regular lectures, we will try to schedule special lectures to cover more in-depth and advanced topics. The OLE Subcommittee will also provide technical support to the webinar conferences hosted by the Peer Support Program and Autopsy Subcommittee.

2. CAPA Curbside Consultation-Bone and Soft Tissue Pathology Subgroup

Group Leader: Dr. Shi Wei

Advisor: Dr. Paul Zhang

Consultants: Dr. Marilyn Bui and Dr. Yaxia Zhang

Aim: This peer to peer group activity is to discuss challenging, rare, or interesting cases for educational purpose. The group leader and the fellow peer consultants are experienced bone and soft tissue pathologists who will provide informal consultation to whom are interested to join a zoom meeting weekly. Dr. Paul Zhang will serve as an advisor to provide ad hoc consultation and connect the consultants to additional resources and opportunities. This activity is to promote the education, support, collaboration and friendship among CAPA members.

Format: On every Tuesday 5-5:30 pm EST (tentatively for now; subject to change to accommodate most participants), each presenter (self-identified) will have a couple of minutes to show an unknown case to the group of consultants for their 2nd opinion. Please note that pertinent clinical and radiologic information and the pathology information via a digital camera without disclosing any confidential information of the patient will be presented, i.e. strictly following HIPPA rules. Although this educational activity may also be helpful in real time practice, we must emphasize that the content of the case discussion is for reference only and should not be used as a formal consultation for diagnosis. The members participating in the discussion shall not bear any legal responsibility for the pathology report and their names should not appear in the report.

Call for Action: If you are a bone and soft tissue pathology expert and wish to join the consultant group, please let Dr. Shi Wei know. If you wish to be on the weekly meeting to either show your case or just observe, please inform Dr. Wei to keep you on the group mailing/information dissemination list. We also welcome any suggestions that will make this a practical, informative and meaningful activity for all.

3. Autopsy education subcommittee

Mission:

Autopsy plays a pivotal role for the integration of medical knowledge and as a barometer of the patient safety initiative. The autopsy aids in the education of residents and fellows by providing teaching materials for clinical and pathological correlations. Additionally, the autopsy provides an opportunity for pathology residents and fellows to augment their knowledge of normal and abnormal anatomy and histology.

The role of Autopsy Committee is to teach residents and fellows anatomic and clinical pathology through interesting autopsy cases and to foster the communications among pathologists to improve autopsy services.

Proposed activities

1. Lectures. We are planning to give online lectures 4 times a year at least.
2. Autopsy committee members will have quarterly meetings to discuss how to improve our mission.
3. Organizing interesting case presentations and encouraging residents to present autopsy cases
4. To help residents and fellows to do researchers on autopsy cases
